

Set up for scalability.

Our industrial tech client was keen to reap the benefits of integrating Gen AI, and fast

Increased productivity, more room for innovation and a solid base for future scalability were priorities for our industrial technology leader, and we were able to deliver all that and more, inside a month.

Rather than the usual proof-of-concept, we cut straight to a live, business-ready platform, which allowed the client to experience the benefits of Gen AI almost immediately, setting them on the road to streamlined, optimized processes. Phase one saw us work together on a tailored set of 21 Gen AI use cases spanning everything from code generation to document summarization, before phase two covered business-bespoke customization and the guardrails needed for seamless, ethical adoption.

Thanks to the swift roll-out of an innovative solution, over 17,000 active users have now reported productivity gains of +30%, leaving the client energized and ready to take the next steps towards scaling up Gen AI, from a solid foundation.

