Just what the doctor ordered.

A US healthcare client provides insurance, health services and community health initiatives via a charitable division. But due to siloed teams and resource-intensive processes, when it came to testing, it was losing valuable time and grappling with inefficiencies.

As part of a longstanding relationship, we worked alongside the client to streamline and optimize the existing Quality Engineering & Testing landscape. We implemented a new shared test management tool, tailored processes to fit, and set up an enterprise-level end-to-end regression test suite.

Swift, agile delivery, using solutions we knew would work, has led to 70% improvement in speed-to-market for new products, a 48% reduction in testing costs and 69% less defects. And that positive outcome means a clean bill of health for our client.
